Who Will Follow This Notice

This notice describes the protected health information practices of the Genesis HealthCare System group health plan (the "Plan"), which is an organized health care arrangement including the Genesis HealthCare System and its partner companies. Any third party that assists in the administration of Plan claims also uses these practices.

Our Pledge Regarding Protected Health Information

The Plan understands that protected health information about you and your health is personal. The Plan is committed to protecting protected health information about you. The Plan creates a record of the health care claims reimbursed under the Plan for Plan administration purposes. This notice applies to all of the medical records the Plan maintains. Your personal doctor or health care provider may have different policies or notices regarding the doctor's use and disclosure of your protected health information created in the doctor's office or clinic.

This notice will tell you about the ways in which the Plan may use and disclose protected health information about you. It also describes our obligations and your rights regarding the use and disclosure of protected health information.

We are required by law to:

- make sure that protected health information that identifies you is kept private;
- give you this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to protected health information about you; and
- follow the terms of the notice that is currently in effect.
- notify you in the unlikely event of a breach or unauthorized disclosure of your protected health information.

We reserve the right to change the terms of this Notice of Privacy Practices as necessary and to make the new Notice effective for all protected health information maintained by us. You may receive a copy of the most recent Employee Notice of Privacy Practices at Genesis HealthCare System Human Resources Office, or you may request such copy by e-mail or other electronic means. The Employee Notice of Privacy Practices is also located on iGenesis under Human Resources Forms.

How We May Use and Disclose Protected Health Information About You

The following categories describe different ways that the Plan may use and disclose protected health information. For each category of uses or disclosures the Plan will explain what it means and present some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. However, all of the ways the Plan is permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the categories.

For Authorization. Except as outlined below, we will not use or disclose your protected health information for any purpose unless you have signed a form authorizing the use or disclosure. You have the right to revoke that authorization in writing unless we have taken any action in reliance on the authorization. There are certain uses and disclosures of your protected health information for which we will always obtain a prior authorization and these include:

- Marketing communications unless the communication is made directly to you in person, is simply a promotional gift of nominal value, is a prescription refill reminder, general health or wellness information, or a communication about health related products or services that we offer or that are directly related to your treatment.
- Most sales of your health information unless for treatment or payment purposes or as required by law.

Psychotherapy notes unless otherwise permitted or required by law.

For Treatment. The Plan may use or disclose protected health information to facilitate medical treatment or services by providers. The Plan may disclose protected health information about you to providers, including doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, or other hospital personnel who are involved in taking care of you. For example, the Plan might disclose information about your prior prescriptions to a pharmacist to determine if a pending prescription is contradictory with prior prescriptions.

For Payment. The Plan may use and disclose protected health information about you to determine eligibility for Plan benefits, to facilitate payment for the treatment and services you receive from health care providers, to determine benefit responsibility under the Plan, or to coordinate Plan coverage. For example, the Plan may tell your health care provider about your medical history to determine whether a particular treatment is experimental, investigational, or medically necessary or to determine whether the Plan will cover the treatment. The Plan may also share protected health information with a utilization review or pre-certification service provider. Likewise, the Plan may share protected health information with another entity to assist with the adjudication or subrogation of health claims or to another health plan to coordinate benefit payments.

For Health Care Operations. The Plan may use and disclose protected health information about you for other Plan operations. These uses and disclosures are necessary to run the Plan. For example, the Plan may use protected health information in connection with: conducting quality assessment and improvement activities; underwriting, premium rating, and other activities relating to Plan coverage; submitting claims for stop-loss (or excess loss) coverage; conducting or arranging for medical review, legal services, audit services and fraud and abuse detection programs; business planning and development such as cost management; and business management and general Plan administrative activities.

Genetic Information. We will not use or disclose any genetic information about you or your family members for underwriting or benefit eligibility determinations.

To Business Associates. The Plan is administered by a TPA with whom the Plan contracts to perform certain administrative services required to operate the plan. Certain other aspects and components of our services are also performed through contracts with outside persons or organizations, such as auditing, accreditation, actuarial services, legal services, etc. Your protected health information will be disclosed to the Plan's TPA, and at times it may be necessary for us to provide certain of your protected health information to one or more of the other outside persons or organizations who assist us with our health care operations. In all cases, we require these business associations to appropriately safeguard the privacy of your information.

As Required By Law. The Plan will disclose protected health information about you when required to do so by federal, state or local law. For example, the Plan may disclose protected health information when required by a court order in a litigation proceeding such as a malpractice action.

To Avert a Serious Threat to Health or Safety. The Plan may use or disclose protected health information about you when necessary to prevent a serious threat to your health or to the health and safety of the public or another person. Any disclosure, however, would only be to someone able to help prevent the threat. For example, the Plan may disclose protected health information about you in a proceeding regarding the licensure of a physician.

Research. In limited circumstances, we may use and disclose your protected health information for research purposes. For example, a research organization may wish to compare outcomes of patients by payer source and will need to review a series of records that we hold. In all cases where your specific authorization has not been obtained, your privacy will be protected by strict confidentiality requirements applied by an Institutional Review Board or privacy board which oversees the research or by representations of the researchers that limit their use and disclosure of member information.

Special Situations

Disclosure to Health Plan Sponsor. Protected health information may be disclosed to your plan sponsor for purposes of administering the Plan. However, your plan sponsor must certify that the information provided will be maintained in a confidential manner and will not be used for employment related decisions or for other employee benefit determinations, or in any other manner not permitted by law.

Family and Friends Involved In Your Care. With your approval, we may from time to time disclose your protected health information to designated family, friends, and others who are involved in your care or in payment for your care in order to facilitate that person's involvement in caring for you or paying for your care. If you are unavailable, incapacitated, or facing an emergency medical situation and we determine that a limited disclosure may be in your best interest, we may share limited protected health information with such individuals without your approval. We may also disclose limited protected health information to a public or private entity that is authorized to assist in disaster relief efforts in order for that entity to locate a family member or other persons that may be involved in some aspect of caring for you.

Other Health-Related Products or Services. We may, from time to time, use your protected health information to determine whether you might be interested in or benefit from treatment alternatives or other health-related programs, products or services which may be available to you as a member of the Plan. For example, we may use your protected health information to identify whether you have a particular illness, and contact you to advise you that a disease management program to help you manage your illness better is available to you as a Plan member. We will not use your information to market products or services which are not health-related without your written permission.

Organ and Tissue Donation. If you are an organ donor, the Plan may release protected health information to organizations that handle organ procurement or organ, eye or tissue transplantation or to an organ donation bank, as necessary to facilitate organ or tissue donation and transplantation.

Military and Veterans. If you are a member of the armed forces, the Plan may release protected health information about you as required by military command authorities. The Plan may also release protected health information about foreign military personnel to the appropriate foreign military authority.

Workers' Compensation. The Plan may release protected health information about you for workers' compensation or similar programs. These programs provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness.

Public Health Risks. The Plan may disclose protected health information about you for public health activities. These activities generally include the following:

- to notify the appropriate government authority if we believe a patient has been the victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence. The Plan will make this disclosure if you agree or when required or authorized by law.

Health Oversight Activities. The Plan may disclose Protected Health Information to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law. These oversight activities include, for example, audits, investigations, inspections, and licensure. These activities are necessary for the government to monitor the health care system, government programs, and compliance with civil rights laws.

Lawsuits and Disputes. If you are involved in a lawsuit or a dispute, the Plan may disclose protected health information about you in response to a court or administrative order. The Plan may also disclose protected health information about you in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting the information requested.

Law Enforcement. The Plan may release protected health information if asked to do so by a law enforcement official:

- in response to a court order, subpoena, warrant, summons or similar process;
- to identify or locate a suspect, fugitive, material witness, or missing person;
- about the victim of a crime if, under certain limited circumstances, we are unable to obtain the person's agreement;
- about a death we believe may be the result of criminal conduct;

This may be necessary, for example, to identify a deceased person or determine the cause of death. We may also release protected health information about patients of the hospital to funeral directors as necessary to carry out their duties.

This release would be necessary (1) for the institution to provide you with health care; (2) to protect your health and safety or the health and safety of others; or (3) for the safety and security of the correctional institution.
